

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

Sekolah Citra Berkat is a national plus school that is famous with its tagline "Entrepreneurship Sejak Dini". This school offers education starting from play group to senior high school. This school is ready to prepare the students to be future entrepreneurs so that the students have already learned about entrepreneurship since childhood.

The writer did the internship at Sekolah Citra Berkat Surabaya for five weeks started on January 20th 2014 and ended on February 19th 2014. During the internship, the writer was assigned to handle six classes of grade 1 and 2 in elementary school and two classes including science and social classes in senior high school.

The writer was very happy because she got many new experiences that she has never got before. One of them was before teaching-learning process started, there is always a short briefing in teacher's room and after teaching-learning process ended, there is usually held a sharing forum between teachers. The writer's presence was really appreciated by others. There was no difference between permanent teachers and apprentice. They treated each other equally.

In fact, before conducting the internship to teach the students in elementary school, the writer did not like to teach children and prefer to teach teenagers. The writer thought that teaching children was very difficult because they often were noisy and ignorant. But the reality was different, teaching children was very fun and excited the writer even more. The students' behaviour changed the writer's opinion thoroughly.

On the other hand, there are big differences between working and studying. The writer is expected to be discipline and follow the schedule of teaching as well as prepare ahead the materials which will be taught to the students during the internship. It is quite different from student's life which is more flexible and relaxed.

The writer realized that working is really harder than studying in university. When she was working, she spent nine hours every week days. Leisure time is no longer available there. Beside teaching, the writer had to mark the students' worksheet, prepare the materials for the next meeting, discuss with her advisor, help other teachers to conduct their classes, etc. Therefore, time management is very important.

Finally, the writer feels proud of getting a chance to do intership at Sekolah Citra Berkas Surabaya because she experienced teaching "extraordinary" students. Extraordinary students mean students who did not only learn about usual subjects like mathematics, english, science, social, etc, but they also learn about entrepreneurship skills. She also has learned that adapting quickly is really needed in working life.
